

CANDY GRAPHING

How many ways can think of to sort your candy? By wrapper color? Chocolate or no chocolate? Like or don't like?

Sorting candy into piles can be fun, but it can be hard to tell how many pieces are in each pile, especially if you have a lots of candy, or if the piles are close to the same size. Instead of sorting your candy into piles, try lining them up!

By putting our candy in lines we can see how much candy we have just by how long or tall our row is. By putting the lines all next to each other, and making sure we're matching the spacing on all of our lines, we can show where we have more or less candy without having to count.
